Middlesex University teaches 40,000 students on our campuses in London, Malta, Dubai, and Mauritius, as well as with prestigious partners across the world. We have invested £200 million developing one of London's biggest and most impressive campuses here at Hendon.

Our expertise is wide ranging, from art and design, business, health and education; to law, media and performing arts and science and technology.

Allianz Park

In 2013, Middlesex University opened its brand new sport and exercise science facilities nearby at Allianz Park.

As part of an exciting new venture with Saracens Rugby who are based at Allianz Park, students have access to a technologically advanced, high performance centre for sport science and sport medicine including physiology lab, health fitness suite, biomechanics lab, strength conditioning suite, performance analysis and sport psychology computer lab. In addition there is a sport injury clinic for teaching sport rehabilitation and sport physiotherapy.
