

Pregnancy - Help and Advice

This is a brief guide for students who become pregnant during their studies. It covers entitlement to additional sources of income and useful resource references.

I think I am pregnant. What should I do?

First things first - you will need to take a test. You may be able to get free pregnancy tests at your GP, family planning clinic or young person's clinic such as the Brook Centre. For further information on where you can take a free pregnancy test, you may wish to visit www.brook.org.uk (advice for under 25s only). Alternatively, you can visit the Family Planning Association's website at www.fpa.org.uk. Many chemists have tests but they will charge.

I am pregnant. What shall I do?

You will need time to adjust to the thought of being pregnant and to consider your options. A baby will drastically change your life as well as those around you so it is important to get support, guidance and advice early. Here are some useful contacts:

Brook Centre 0808 802 1234 (under 25 years)

www.brook.org.uk

British Pregnancy Advisory Service 03457 304030

www.bpas.org

Marie Stopes Clinic 0345 300 8090

www.mariestopes.org.uk

Family Planning Association 0300 123 7123

www.fpa.org.uk

While I am pregnant what health benefits am I entitled to?

Free prescriptions and free dental treatment.

You must apply for a maternity exemption certificate on form FW8 available from your health visitor, doctor or midwife. It is available to all pregnant women and up to 12 months after the baby is born.

Healthy Start Vouchers.

These help contribute to the cost of formula milk, fresh milk, fruit and vegetables during your pregnancy and until your child/children reach four years old. You can also apply for vouchers for essential vitamins too. To qualify, you or your family must receive Universal Credit, Income Support, income-based JSA or ESA or Child Tax Credits with a maximum income of £16,190 (but not Working Tax Credit unless your family is receiving WTC run-on only). More information can be found via the following link:

www.healthystart.nhs.uk

What other financial help is available?

Generally, any extra Student Support usually starts once the baby is born. This is explained in the following Welfare Advice Guides:

- Childcare Grants and Extra Money for Student Parents
- Nursing and Midwifery Students

However, if you have been working or in receipt of certain welfare benefits, there may be extra financial support you can receive during the pregnancy.

For students who are currently working:

If you are an employee, check the terms and conditions of your contract of employment, as you may have contractual maternity rights stated there. The key one is about maternity pay entitlements; money paid while you are off work, preparing for and looking after your baby. If there is no provision in your contract and you satisfy the required continuous employment and earning conditions, you may be entitled to:

- Statutory Maternity Pay (SMP). The earliest you can be paid is the 11th week before the expected week of childbirth and it is paid for up to 39 weeks in total. If you are not entitled to SMP you may be entitled to receive a Maternity Allowance or Employment Support Allowance instead.
- Paternity Pay. Many fathers can benefit from paid time off work once the baby is born. Again, check employment contracts but nevertheless, there is Ordinary Statutory Paternity Pay if the employer does not make provision. To check your entitlements log on to www.gov.uk/plan-paternity-leave

For students who are currently claiming welfare benefits:

Sure Start Maternity Grant. You may be eligible for a payment of £500 for your first child, if you are in receipt of Universal Credit, Income Support, Income-Based JSA or ESA, Pension Credit, Child Tax Credit, (paid at an amount which exceeds the family element) or Working Tax Credit, where it includes the disability or severe disability element. The earliest you can claim this support is from 11 weeks before the baby is due until three months after the baby is born. You can get more information via the following link:

www.gov.uk/sure-start-maternity-grant

Where can I get further information about any of the above provisions?

For further information contact the Student Welfare Advice Team or see the Government website:

www.gov.uk/browse/benefits/families

Thinking of interrupting your course because of your pregnancy?

If you are thinking of interrupting your studies at any time, there may be implications regarding your programme and course funding. Questions you should think about are:

- How will this affect current and future Student Finance England (SFE) funding?
- How will this affect my current MDX fees?
- Who should I inform and how?
- How will this impact on my studies?
- Will I have any Welfare Benefit?
- Entitlements before the baby is born?
- As an international student, will there be further immigration considerations?

As a starting point see Welfare Advice Guide 'Change of Circumstances' and always seek academic and financial advice before finalising decisions and approaching Student Finance England. Nursing Students should read their relevant Welfare Advice Guides as they can attract a Maternity Payment during these times.

Once the baby is born, what extra support can I receive as a student?

The support you receive will depend on many factors but generally, the sorts of things to find out more about is:

Government Support:

Child Benefit, Child Tax Credits, Universal Credit, Housing Benefit, Income Support (subject to an income assessment and the rules of entitlement)

Student Finance England Support:

Childcare Grants if you use registered childcare, Parent Learning Allowances.

NHS Support for health care students who started their studies before 2017:

Child Dependants Allowance, Dependants' Grant

NHS Support for undergraduate health care students who started their studies after 31st August 2017:

Learning Support Fund

www.nhsbsa.nhs.uk/learning-support-fund

University Support:

Student Support Fund for unregistered childcare (Please note; funds are limited and will not usually cover all childcare costs, so plan ahead)

Your funding body may be able to tell you more about many of these extra funds or you can look at other Welfare Advice Guides at: unihub.mdx.ac.uk/welfare-guides

Alternatively, look at the Government website:

I am on a student visa and due to have a baby. Are there any special immigration rules or procedures I need to know about?

If you are in this situation, it is best to see the International Student Advisors on campus. They can advise you on NHS care as well as Home Office rules relating to dependant visas. Contact intadvice@mdx.ac.uk or call 020 8411 4507
